January 1st. 1849.

This is an eventful day in the career of my life. I leave my friends and country to go to seek my fortune in a far distant land towards which cities and towns seem emigrating. What is the cause of this universal excitement which is turning the hearts and heads of the people? Simply this:- Vast gold mines have been discovered in California (a newly acquired possession of the United States) and to this country thousands are going impelled with the same desire which induced the inhabitants of old Spain quit its shores for a newly discovered continent.
