The Senate Will Take Up the Arbitration Treaty.

MAY REACH A VOTE.

Three Days More Will End the Struggle Over the Dingley Tariff Bill in the House—Democrats Will Fight to the Last.

Associated Press Dispatches.

Washington, March 28.—The senate will devote its energies this week to the ratification treaty with the various hope on the part of some of its friends of securing the final vote on Friday or Saturday. The senate will early tomorrow go into executive session to consider the treaty, if no unforeseen circumstance prevents, and thus afford ample time to complete all speeches on Wednesday, when the voting is to begin on the miscellaneous amendments. The consideration of amendments is to continue Thursday, provided new ones are offered, after Wednesday's proceedings. Later than that day the senate proceedings are not clear. Consent to naming a date for the vote on the treaty itself is still withheld, and will not be given until the fate of the amendments becomes known. It is surmised that if the Clifton amendment should be accepted, the debate on the treaty would soon come to a conclusion, but that if it should be beaten the consequent discussion would be of indefinite duration. The appropriation bills are expected to be reported to the senate after the adjournment of the committee on appropriations, Tuesday, but they will not be taken up until the 30th, at latest. The bankruptcy bill will also give precedence to the treaty. The question of organizing the committee continues a subject for attention and may reach a climax during the week.

THE HOUSE.

Three more days will see the end of the struggle over the Dingley tariff bill in the house. The bill will be open for amendment until 1 o'clock Wednesday, when the debate will close on a two-hours display of oratory. The voting will begin at 3 o'clock on that day. So far as known there will be

WANTS A LOTTERY.

Nevada Is Anxious to Add to Its Drepute.

Carson, Nev., March 22.—The town was elated today when papers suggesting the establishment of a lottery in Nevada arrived. The proposition was discussed here two years ago, but met with disaffection from all quarters as it was not fully understood. An effort to pass a bill through the legislature was made, but was not pushed energetically. Many people expressed their approbation on the subject today, and said they would gladly contribute to encourage such a measure. The report was rife that Governor Butler would call an extra session of the legislature to consider the matter, and that he had given his promise to Dan Stuart to do so. The governor was questioned and said that the affair had never been suggested to him.

"I should not," he retorted, "under any consideration. I could not do so in justice to the people of my state. The expense would be an unnecessary burden for them to bear, and the situation would be simply a matter of small moment to me. If they wish a lottery in Nevada they will wait for two years more, when the legislature will meet in regular session. Personally I know nothing of the immediate benefits of a lottery in Carson."

The Sultan Is Renred.

Constantinople, March 28.—Owing to fears of further disturbance in the vilayet of Sivas; United States Minister Terrell has asked the porte to resume the military guards at the residence of the American missionaries. There is a feeling of uneasiness here because of the rumor that the Armenians who participated in the attack on the Imperial Ottoman bank have returned to the city. The fact that the authorities have materially increased the military precautions against outbreaks indicates that they share in the feeling of apprehension.

Associated Press Dispatches

Athens, March 28.—Crown Prince Constantine has arrived at Vohi. During the passage of the canal of Egriopoli, Prince George went on board and bade his brother a touching adieu. The ministers of the powers held a conference today, and, it is stated, drew up the terms of a collective note to the Greek government, requesting that the Greek troops be recalled from the frontier. It is understood that a similar note will be presented to the royal government, and it either power refuses its principal ports will be blockaded. A meeting of the Crown delegates will be held shortly at Athens to draft a reply to the admirals' proclamation of autonomy.

London, March 28.—The Daily Graphic understands that the British proposal to Greece and Turkey to withdraw their armies from the frontier actually originates at Athens. The Turks now occupy all the passes and the best strategic positions. According to the Graphic, the Greeks propose simultaneous withdrawal in order to be able to capture these positions by a rush attack, after making a joint compliance.

CRETAN WAIFAB

London, March 28.—A letter from Times from Canea says that the first correspondents of that newspaper who were present during the fighting at Malaxa, was captured by the Cretans and held as a spy. He probably would have been shot, but for the opportune arrival of an American journalist, and the insurgent leader Mianis, an Oxford man, who is at the head of a band of men whom he personally organized. He was the first to capture the Turk, and when the Turk was killed he prevailed on the

THE GREAT OVERFLOW.

Desperate Efforts to Hold the Lacey Against the Mississippi.

Memphis, March 28.—The food situation around Memphis is unchanged. The river is slowly falling, the gauge tonight registering thirty-six feet. Many of the refugees are returning to their abandoned homes in Arkansas, and of them the outlook is more encouraging than at any time since the Greenville, S. C., March 28. The grape buds are about one-third open. The past twenty-four hours nearly 1,000 men are at work upon the vines along the ten miles caving Greenville. Five hundred laborers from the plantations will arrive here tomorrow. The Greenville saw mills are at work today with full force of men, while barges are being loaded with lumber and rails to be sent to the plantations. The Elbridge, Vinton, Milledgeville, Hark, Amul, Lenoir, Clinton and Louise Langley are being used now almost exclusively for transportation of men and material to be used in strengthening the levees. Every energy is being used to prevent a breach, and with hopes of success, the weak spots are south of here, but now under control.

licksburg, Miss., March 28.—The day has been one of increased anxiety for us depending upon and protected by the levees. Orders for sacks and other material have been plentiful. The water here has risen five-fifths since last night, and is now 16.6, six inches below the highest water since 1892. The impression can be said is that the levees are still held on both sides of the river, but circumstances little short of despair.

March 25.—Rumors have been heard here that a break has occurred in the Insurgents' district, but no action has not been received. The point, along the Mississippi line which seriously threatened is Longwood, fifteen miles south of Greenville,
the situation there being very severe.

For Killing Her Husband.
West, N.Y., March 28.—Mrs. Richard McCullough, 24 years old, was arrested here today, charged with the murder of her husband, night engineer at the H. North mines. McCullough was shot and killed last evening, and to the neighbors who came in his wife told them that her husband had been cleaning a pistol, which did not work right, and that she asked to see it. While she was handling the weapon

Chief Consul Frank H. Kerrigan of the North California division of the I. A. W., has resigned his position as a result of the refusal of the league at its last meeting to sanction Sunday racing. Kerrigan's resignation is the first move of a plan to supplant the I. A. W. in California by a local organization that will be more liberal in its ideas concerning racing.
